I stayed away from that game "I wanna be the guy" after i checked out the demo some time ago and decided that i didnt want to go through a difficult and brutal plattform again, because of the pretty high levels of frustration that come with those. But watching somebody else actually go through all the torture and feel all the rage and brutality second-hand by watching him fail, was funny and also kind of rewarding as you get to see somebody else actually beat the game. The whole thing is about 25 youtube videos, so be prepared to lose at least a day to it, if you want to watch them all....

This is the first one
